TIPS AND TRICKS

SCIC's computer system is updated immediately when you use AgConnect.

This means work on your file can begin much sooner, resulting in quicker processing of your application. You can submit all supplementary information and income and expense information directly to SCIC, using AgConnect. AgConnect has three options to ensure your AgriStability information is submitted. It's a matter of choosing what combination will work best for you.

The Enter/View Data option allows you to use interactive eforms. Many of the eforms are responsive, conveniently displaying drop-down lists and autofill text boxes. Once information is entered into the eforms, it is automatically saved to AgConnect. This protects your work if something should happen or if your session ends. Autosave allows you to return to complete at a later date.

The Import from Excel gives you the flexibility to download the Excel form and gather all the necessary information at your own pace. Once completed, simply upload the file to AgConnect. If you missed something when completing the Excel forms, AgConnect will alert you to any required additional information before submission can be completed.

The Send a File feature allows you to attach supporting documentation, such as: sales receipts, inventories, payables, deferrals and purchased inputs.

Please note: If you choose to submit your tax information to SCIC, you are still required to send your tax information to the Canada Revenue Agency.

PRIVACY AND SECURITY

Customers have the ability to update and control their personal settings.

Passwords, email addresses and security questions can be updated and changed at your convenience. Your information is kept secure in accordance with the Government of Saskatchewan's Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act.
